Seller Fee Cheat Sheet: what you really keep from a $25 sale

Seven platforms, worked out step by step from each platform's own fee page. Every number carries the date we checked it and a link to the source, so you can verify it rather than trust it.

Before your own costs (materials, shipping labels, ads, the product itself) and before tax. Rounded to the cent at each step. Fees change: check the live tracker before you price.

The quick rule. On a $25 item, platform fees take anything from about $1 to $7.50. The cheapest place to sell isn't always the one with the lowest fee: a marketplace brings buyers, your own link doesn't. Price from what you keep, not from what the buyer pays.
